Dear Sean,

I'm excited about our plans for this year's revamped conference. As you know, pulling off this event will require a lot of planning and writing. We'll need to create an email plan to blast potential attendees, write event page copy, and then develop the agenda and presentations as well. Leading up to the event, I'd like to work from home two days a week. In previous roles, working from home increased my productivity. Wednesday and Friday would be ideal workfrom-home days, since we don't have any team-wide meetings. Of course, I can be completely flexible and come into the office if we ever do need face-to-face time, and I'll be available by phone and email on workfrom-home days, in case anything comes up. Eager to hear your thoughts on this plan.

Best, Carrie

My mother and I climbed a short ladder into the hayloft. We crawled to the far end under the sloping roof and buried ourselves beneath loose piles of hay. We lay motionless. Moments later we heard voices in German shouting "Wo sind die Juden?" (Where are the Jews?) We froze in terror. My mother covered me with her body. We held our breaths. We heard one of the men stomp halfway up the ladder and fling open the trapdoor. Leaning in, he jabbed violently around in the straw with his bayonet. The tip was only inches away from us. I felt my life slipping away. Suddenly, he stopped. Shouting in anger that there was no one up there, he descended in fury to the barn. Cursing the Fedorow family, the men left. As their voices faded away, my mother's whisper broke the silence, "Irsiu, we are alive." How fine is the line between life and death!

RappRides is an all-volunteer system that takes seniors on shopping trips to Warrenton, Culpeper, Luray, and Front Royal on successive Fridays. RappRides just completed its first full month and the verdict is in. Seniors love it. More than a dozen went on trips in March. They and others at the Senior Center look forward to more trips in upcoming months. That's the problem. With one exception, the only seniors who have requested trips also attend the Senior Center. Do you want to get out of the house for a few hours? It doesn't have to be for shopping. To arrange a pickup, call Darcy Canton, Senior Center Coordinator, at 540-987-3638. Darcy will assign a driver, who will call the senior to coordinate a pickup. RappRides is a great service, and it's free. Let's take advantage of it.

Sarah and I turned right into a street called Walton Street where there were stalls down each side with bright lights. As we walked down this street we found it hard to stop and look at the stalls because we were being pushed along by the crowds. Sarah shouted that she had never seen so many people. About half way down the fair opened out and the pushing stopped. We found ourselves near to the side of a big building, which a sign said was the Army Drill Hall, and stood for a little while to get our breath back and decide what to do first. We started by walking down through the stalls; there were rows of bazaars, ring boards, shooting saloons, gingerbread stalls, and stalls displaying all sorts of fruits and spices. Sarah said she didn't know where to look first and thought it would be easy to spend a lot of money there if she had it.
